Now, for some general information:

Cookies Explained

As is common practice with almost all websites, this site uses cookies. Computer cookies (unlike the edible kind) are tiny files that are downloaded to your computer to improve your experience. Disabling cookies may 'break' certain elements of the site's functionality. Additional information on cookies may be obtained by performing a simple search online for "computer cookies".

How Cookies Are (Mis)Used

Under normal circumstances, cookies cannot transfer viruses or malware to your computer. Because the data in a cookie does not change when it travels between computers, it has no way of affecting how your computer runs. However, some viruses and malware may be disguised as cookies. Third-party tracking cookies can also cause security and privacy concerns, since they make it easier for parties you may find hard to identify, to watch your activities know and what you are doing online.

How to Disable Cookies

You can prevent cookies from being downloaded by adjusting your browser settings. However, disabling cookies may affect how this and other websites function. Disabling cookies may also cause certain loss of function and features on this site.

What Cookies Do We Use?

- Email newsletters related cookies

This site offers a free email service called iMail™ that requires signup and cookies may be used to remember if you are already registered and whether to show certain notifications which might only be valid to subscribed/unsubscribed users.

- Forms related cookies

When you submit data through a form such as those found on our consultus page, cookies may be set to remember your user details for future correspondence.

- Live chat related cookies

We use LiveChat to enable users to interact with us if they have any questions. The cookies are used to remember returning visitors and provide appropriate assistance.

Contact us directly through our website at www.kidambi.com if for some reason you are unable to fully understand our privacy policy or require additional information. Thank you.
